

METAPHYSICS

How many footprints have been erased
On the roads and paths?

What proportion between war and blood?

When is it late to be born
And soon to die?

When will we stop being
Machine-men in putrefaction?

What is the distance between pain and song?

How many collective suicides
Will still be needed?

These lines know
The impossibility of its purpose.
Meanwhile, the clock hands are running
And the seconds are left behind.
