

MAYBE OR PERHAPS

“Perhaps if I had not been thinking about the match of the day, I wouldn’t be like this. I bought a pickled sauce tune can instead of mackerel and, in addition, I didn’t pay attention to the expiry date. After eating her salad, she felt really bad. After ten days of treatment, she left hospital. She had lost ten kilos. Anyway, let’s keep the positive, her goal was to lose weight”.

“Maybe he did it on purpose. My lawyer says I will have the children’s custody. He will claim that he has serious memory problems and he’ll prove it easily. I always knew that a tiny daily amount of grapefruit vinegar will give him a progressive amnesia from which he would never manage to escape.”

Collection of micro-stories: “Maybe or perhaps”

Translated with www.DeepL.com/Translator (free version)