

THERE IS NO FULL MOON

The province's proudest werewolf was a frequent guest on sensational television programs. His image and controversial comments were a spectacle in itself. The masses were drawn to this character, like flies to honey. From a very young age, he had been accustomed to having his desires immediately gratified. He never experienced frustration. In old age, he invested a good part of his family inheritance in supporting a very competitive and tough electoral campaign that led him to the presidency of the country. His first political objective was to hunt down the wolves until they were exterminated and disappeared; however, every night the frightened sheep in the fold grow more numerous.
